Dilapidation Speakeasy
You ask the questions and we will try and give you the answers
Wed 22 July 2020

Dilapidations claims are always team pursuits, with larger claim needing detailed involvement from barristers, solicitors, mediators, building surveyors, valuers, M&E consultants etc. We’ve pulled together a panel of specialists for an informal discussion on their roles and how and when they typically find themselves becoming involved. Topics may include:

- Use of case law in negotiations.
- Expressing opinions v facts.
- Using other consultants advice / reliance on other information.
- Attitude/being professional and not resorting to criticising the other side.

The panel will take questions via the chat function and although they will not pretend to have all the answers, it is important we all start to share some of our experiences and concerns and begin to talk about how to prepare as specialists for what’s coming down the line.

The Dilapidations Association was formed in 2017 by surveyors, engineers, solicitors and others involved in dilapidations with the purpose of sharing knowledge and information for the benefit of its members.
